WILL SEVERANCE

WRITES ENTERTAININGLY OF HIS VISIT TO NORTH CAROLINA.

One of the weaknesses of humanity is to look for a place where there is money in abundance and where hard work is unknown.

Since I returned from Hendersonville, N. C., where Albert has located, I have had a great many to ask me about the country and the prospects for making money; so I will tell you through the I. J. what I saw and how the land of the skies impressed me.

Among my limited travels it was my lot to travel the famous French Broad river road. No one however proficient in word painting can describe the grand mountain valley and river scenery, nature has in store for him in the French Broad valley. The Southern Ry. runs along the banks of this rapid mountain river for 75 miles, crossing it five or six times. It is worth the R. R. fare to see the grand scenery this trip affords.

After passing through Asheville our train began to climb the mountain until we reached Hendersonville, which is 2,200 feet above the sea level. The climate is delightful and the air bracing. The temperature seldom gets above 90, while down on the coasts it drops around the 100 mark.

It puzzled me to know just why so many people come to this place, but on learning that the heat was almost unbearable, and the inhabitants of the lowlands and sea coast towns are compelled to go to the mountains to get cool and enjoy themselves.

Besides being a summer and winter resort, it is a considerable shipping point for raisers of cabbage, apples, tomatoes and melons, several cars being shipped daily. We heard of one cabbage patch of 70,000 head. This enterprise brings a great deal of spending money into the hands of people who spend money.

Besides the ice plant making six tons daily, they also have a mattress factory and two miles from town is a hosiery factory employing 40 hands.

The business houses are substantial brick structures and the citizens of the enterprising kind who are looking for good things to improve the town.

They have telephone connection with Asheville and other important points. A company from St. Louis has made arrangements to put in an electric railway and lights.

The railway extending to the flat rock vicinity, this section, I found quite different from what I expected. The houses instead of being within a stone's throw of each other, are one half to one mile apart. It looks as if they tried to see who could build the handsomest home on the highest mountain.

Hendersonville has four large hotels with a capacity for about 750 guests and prospects for another before fall with accommodations for 250. They will then have two hotels with winter accommodations for 500.

They believe in enforcing the law and I, of course, walked very straight, as they arrested a colored preacher and took him to the blacksmith shop and welded a chain to him. I was glad to get out of sight of the police; not so with an old lady at the Asheville depot. Standing by a Pullman conductor, who told her husband to go and find her "grip;" she said she would stand by this policeman, remarking that she always felt safe when close to a policeman.

We got down from the land of the skies much quicker than we went up, the descent on the East side being 750 feet in three miles.

I thought of our friend, E. W. Smith, who helped build the road and how he tried to tell us of the beautiful scenery, but like others fell far short of doing the subject justice. The best thing to do is to go down and see for yourself; see the Southland and enjoy Southern hospitality and see what kind of people wholesoul Southerners are.

Albert expects to do well in the ice business as nearly everyone keeps boarders and you know when a fellow is a boarder, whether he ever had ice or not, he'll make the proprietor believe he can't do without ice and ice he must have. Yours, W. S.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

R. L. Manne, 29, and Miss Mattie Rogers, 22, will be married at Granville Rogers' tomorrow.

Robert Hays, Jr., of Danville, and Luella Holdman, of Louisville, deaf mutes, were married at Jeffersonville.

On account of the G. A. R. National Encampment, the C. & O. will sell tickets to Philadelphia, Sept. 1-4, good till Sept. 30, at $14.30. Write G. W. Barney, D. P. A., Lexington, for further particulars.

Squab Bolin was taken from the officers at Fulton and lynched for robbery and murder. Henry Stewart, implicated with Bolin in the robberies, was lynched at Fulton three weeks ago.

One boy was instantly killed and another mortally wounded in Colorado by a man whose melon patch they were raiding.

NEWS OF THE VICINAGE.

In Casey county, Bruce Marble was shot and killed from ambush by an unknown assassin.

The five-year-old son of Martin Wethington died at Clegmentsville, Casey county, of small-pox.

Seventy-five of the Barnett family held a reunion in Pulaski last week. Our old friend, Judge J. M. Barnett, of Shopville, was too ill to attend.

Ed Foley, who used to run the restaurant now owned by John H. Meier, had the misfortune to lose his wife last week. He now lives at Mt. Sterling.

Martin Alford was struck on the head with a mattock in the hands of a man named Brannon in Knob county and instantly killed. They were fighting.

A dispatch from Grays tells of the death of Miss Berdie Mack at the home of her mother, Mrs. B. F. Gray, and says hers makes the ninth death in the Gray family within a year.

Dr. W. W. Burgin, a dentist of Richmond, who married Miss Edmiston, of Crab Orchard, had a narrow escape from poisoning. The doctor purchased a watermelon from a buckster, and when he tasted it he thought it tasted bitter, and concluded to have a physician examine it. The physician made the examination and discovered that the melon was filled with strichine, which had, no doubt, been placed by the grower to catch melon thieves.

A. H. Bastin sold his Crab Orchard stock of goods to William Ward. The invoice amounted to about $4,000. Mr. Bastin's time is so much taken up in telephone business that he thought he would get out of the goods business. In less than 18 months, with all the varied enterprises on hands, he has built one of the best working telephone systems in the State. His company has spread out in both mountains and blue grass. New lines are being built, old ones bought and overhauled and better service being given than ever before.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

LANCASTER.

Vote for water works.

The largest crowd that has been in town for several years was here Saturday to see Cooper & Co.'s railroad shows, drink red lemonade and eat pop corn.

About 8 o'clock Saturday evening the fire alarm was given and on investigation it was learned that the Hamilton Hotel was on fire. Only for the heroic work of the townsmen the whole building would have been destroyed; probably a whole square.

Friday was Negro day in Lancaster. Stanford's colored base ball team played the Danvilles, when about the sixth or seventh inning was reached, the teams got to squabbling "and razors flew in the air." The brawl was however quieted and nobody hurt. Then the vast assembly of blacks adjourned until 7 o'clock in the evening, when they met again at Odd Fellows Hall where a dance and cake walk was given.

The correspondent this week to the INTERIOR JOURNAL begs leave to retract the statement made by him in regard to Mr. M. D. Hughes taking the Keeley as stated in last week's issue of this paper, but has since learned and this story will be corroborated by several staunch democrats of this place, that Mr. Hughes attended the bolters convention at Lexington, and being placed in nomination for a State office, was beaten by a pink faced monkey. The distinguished gentleman has since been afraid to return home. Come back, Mr. Hughes, take up the cause of democracy and walk in the congregation of the righteous.

Arrangements are now being carried out to hold at Oakley Park, Cincinnati, from Sept. 25th to Oct. 7th the Mid-Continental Agricultural Exhibition and Harvest Festival, which will include, in addition to the ordinary Exposition and Fair features, a National Horse Show, from Oct. 2d to 5th inclusive, for which many of the best Show Horses in the United States and Canada have already been entered.

The Kentucky Gazette, Gratz' paper at Lexington, was burned out by a fire caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove next door. In trying to save his books Editor Gratz was badly burned on the arms and hands.

Sixty lives were lost during the hurricane on the North Carolina coast.

CRAB ORCHARD.

There is quite a nice crowd up at the springs and all seem to be enjoying life.

No new cases of small-pox and the town authorities hope they have the disease under control for the present.

Galen Rogers was overcome by heat Saturday and was in a serious condition for awhile, but was improving Sunday.

Elders Livingston and Daugherty closed a very successful meeting Saturday night at the school-house down on the Stanford pike. They had 15 additions.

The Hoop Pole Factory will shut down for this season Wednesday. They have made and shipped about 12,000 hoops, which brought quite a sum of money into our town. They expect to begin buying again about Sept. 1. J. S. Duke, manager, will leave for a visit to his home at Scottsville soon as the factory closes.

Miss Belle Haldeman, of Louisville, is spending a few weeks with Miss Margaret Buchanan. Miss Lizzie Gormley was called to Pittsburg Saturday on professional business. Mrs. Laura Moore has returned home after a protracted stay with relatives in Louisville. Mrs. Paulina Hays is on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Joe McClure, before leaving to spend the winter in Texas. Mrs. Bowen Gover and children, of near Hustonville, are visiting her mother, Mrs. M. A. Singleton. Misses Josie and Anna May Stephens returned to their home in Livingston Thursday, after a very pleasant visit to friends in Crab Orchard. Misses Fanlie Cundy and Ethel Eaton, of Cincinnati, are visiting their relative, Mrs. Alice Newland. Mrs. Dr. Cooper, of Livingston, and Miss Lettie Caldwell, of London, are visitors at Mr. Charles Redd, Jr.'s. Miss Georgia Lewis, who has been very ill at A. H. Bastin's, was able to go home Monday. Miss Georgia came to attend the institute, was taken ill and is just now able to go home. She was greatly missed Institute week.

HUBLE.

S. M. Spoonamore sold A. J. Langston some shoats at 3½c.

The ladies supper here for the benefit of the Christian church panned out $45.14.

So far as I have heard there will be but few votes cast for Brown, as those who did not admire Goebel very much at first, are led to think there is something good in the man, or he would not be opposed so strong by those from whence his opposition comes, and therefore all are more in sympathy with his cause than ever before, in this community.

Jordan Davis, a colored man, living in one of Mrs. Eliza Harris' cabins, was aroused a few nights ago by his boy hallooing. Jordan at once saw the ghostly appearance of a woman in the room, and felt her cold touch as she was disappearing, which put extra warmth and activity in him, so much so that he shouldered his brats and spent the remainder of the night away from home, and now resides in Boyle county. Oh, that we had more such women!

Finley Purdon has gone to London to visit his son for a few days. George Wood returned from Clay and Jackson Friday, having bought 109 cattle and a load of hogs for October delivery. He says crops there are good, as they have not suffered any for rain. We are glad to note that J. J. Walker has returned from the springs much improved. Sam Walter, Oklahoma, has been visiting his brother, Henry Walter, here for a few days.

Danville Fair, August 30th, 31st and Sept. 1st. Low rates from all points between Georgetown and Somerset. Greatest Fair ever held by the Danville Association is promised this year, $2,000 in premiums. Fine military band in attendance, big balloon ascension. Great display of live stock. Plenty of innocent amusements. Reduced rate tickets on sale for this occasion, good until Sept. 2d, to return. Ask your ticket agent for full particulars.

Rev. J. M. Yingling, pastor of the Bedford Street Methodist church at Cumberland, Md., says "It affords me much pleasure to recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used it and know others who have done so. I have never known it to fail. It is a sure cure when taken in time. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

In Morgan county two merchants, Cauldie Bros., are so much alike they can hardly be distinguished apart. They married twin sisters. Now each has twin children who resemble each other so much that the families have great difficulty keeping their babies from getting mixed.

POLITICIANS AND POLITICS.

John R. McLean, of the Esquier, has the lead for the democratic nomination for governor of Ohio.

The Louisville Dispatch argues itself unknown by putting it "G. H. Vandever" in its ticket. Everybody ought to know Farmer D. W. Vandever.

A dispatch from Frankfort says that clever L. & N. agents were offering passing there to those who would attend the republican blow-out at London today.

A leading Confederate at Lexington says that the report that ex-Confederate soldiers would knife Goebel is false and that they will support him with much unanimity.

Congressman Mann, of Chicago, will ask the next Congress for an appropriation for the maintenance of "Confederate Mound," where over 4,000 Southern soldiers are buried.

Messrs. Goebel and Blackburn addressed an enthusiastic crowd of 3,000 at the home of the bolting movement, Mt. Sterling, yesterday and surprised the bolters with the number and enthusiasm.

Nobody expects to elect Gov. Brown. Certainly the Louisville & Nashville knows that he cannot be elected. He is not put up for that purpose. He is put up to beat Goebel by electing Taylor.—Courier Journal.

The London Kentuckian says that J. S. Owlesley, Jr., so clearly and eloquently showed up the "Brown republican aid society," that when he concluded his telling speech there were cries of "keep on," "keep on," though he was the last of the three speakers.

Senator Frazier says that Brown said to him a few days before the convention: "I have this to say of Senator Goebel, that what he tells you you can absolutely rely on. If he makes you a promise you may go to sleep, but you will have the assurance that he will neither forget nor neglect it—but I can't say that about some of the others."

Pulaski is all right. She has only one bolter, W. O. Newell, a self-appointed delegate to the Louisville & Nashville free pass convention and he is the same gentleman that went to Louisville to look after his government bonds on the day of the election in 1896 instead of voting for Bryan. He will no doubt support Bryan until he is nominated again, and then Newell will go off half cocked again.—Progressive Home Journal.

The Chicago platform, like the inaugural address of Thomas Jefferson, was built for all time. We need not repudiate a syllable or idea of it, but when new and important issues arise we can take them into the family and make the campaign upon them without apologizing for any past fight. We lost the last campaign because we locked the foreign vote up. They did not understand the silver issue, but they will understand what a standing army means.—William Jennings Bryan in an address to Iowa Democrats.

HUSTOVILLE.

Our town is greatly excited over the small-pox scare in Casey and a general vaccination has been ordered.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Baptist church next Thursday night, to be conducted by Rev. T. H. Coleman, of Georgetown.

The rain here Sunday week was the hardest known for 18 years. It washed away all the water gates on the farms and completely devastated J. W. Allen's cornfield, near the town creek.

Wednesday night proved to be an ideal one for a hay ride. The Trundel Bed Club took advantage of it and the following enjoyed it to the fullest extent: Misses Nelle Adams, Prill Newburn, Maybelle Drye, Helen Hocker, Maybelle and Virginia Taylor, Louise Culbertson, Edna and Dot Cammitz, Mary Carpenter, Clara Horton, of Covington, and Lucille Cooper, of Stanford. Messrs. Hawkins and Roland Bishop, Howard Cammitz, Val Morse, Jess Carpenter and A. B. C. Dinwiddie, and "several others" of the younger set. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Reid acted as chaperones and that is sufficient to say that "Mr. Jule" kept them within bounds.

Mrs. H. C. Baughman, who has been quite ill, we are glad to announce, is much better. Her sister, Miss Nettie Wray, of Stanford, has been with her during her illness. Miss Emma Funk, of Cedar Hill, Tenn., is the guest of Miss Beulah VanArdsale. Mrs. Adelia Woods is recuperating at Crab Orchard Springs. Mrs. J. G. Weatherford and children of Milldale, are guests of Miss Bettie V. Logan. Miss Mattie Alcorn, who has been attending school in Chicago, is home for a short vacation. Mrs. J. T. Orchard and daughters, after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Allen have returned to their home in Washington, D. C. J. C. Bailey and Homer Wray, of Stanford, spent Sunday with relatives here. Miss Nelle Adams has been on the sick list for a few days.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Governor,	WILLIAM GOEBEL.
For Lieutenant Governor.	J. C. W. BECKHAM.
For Attorney General,	R. J. BRECKINRIDGE
For Auditor,	GUS G. COULTER.
For Treasurer,	S. W. HAGER.
For Secretary of State,	C. BRECK HILL.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction.	HARRY MCHESNEY.
For Commissioner of Agriculture,	ION B. NALL.
For Railroad Commissioner.	C. C. MCCHORD.
For Representative,	M. F. NORTH.

THE crowd that greeted Senators Goebel and Blackburn at Harrodsburg Saturday is variously estimated at from 1,500 to 3,000. There had been no artificial attempt to draw a crowd and the size of it was very gratifying to the speakers and to all democrats. Mercer had been regarded as a veritable hot bed of bolters, but it was found that L. & N. agents had greatly overdrawn the state of affairs. The fact is Mercer county is in pretty good shape and will likely give the democratic ticket the usual majority. Senator Goebel waded right into the L. & N. convention at Lexington and the head of its ticket, who now poses as such an immaculate priest in politics. He asserted that this same John Young Brown on the day that he was nominated sent Senator C. C. McChord, democratic nominee for railroad commissioner, to Mr. Haldeman and procured the publication in the Times of an article suggesting him (Brown) as the most available man to unlock the dead-lock that the convention was apparently in and attempting to stampede the delegates to him. This emphatic and undeniable statement was a deadener to the Brown followers and was enthusiastically received by the democrats, as it left no doubt that John Young Brown and every other man named was anxious to get the nomination given Senator Goebel. It showed up the ex-governor in his true light and took the feathers out of the wings upon which he has tried to fly so grandiloquently. Senator Goebel also showed Brown's inconsistency in now opposing the Election law, when he made speeches for Judge Hobson, whose election alone saved the bill in the court of appeals. The rest of the Senator's speech was along the usual lines of support of that bill, the McChord bill and China School Book bill. Closing he appealed to the democrats to elect J. Morgan Chin to the Legislature so that he could vote for Blackburn, for said he, "I do not want to be governor unless it carries with it the privilege of signing his commission as U. S. Senator."

Senator Blackburn also paid his respects to Brown and showed that he was accustomed to bolting, beginning that detestable business in 1860, when he made a canvass of the State for the Illinois bolter, Stephen A. Douglas. He could count on one hand the number of speeches Brown had made in any canvass for anybody except when he was himself a candidate. Wat Hardin's nomination for governor four years ago was unimpeached. Did anybody hear of Brown making any speeches for him? As usual Senator Blackburn made a telling speech, which was loudly and long cheered.

At its conclusion, Judge Breckinridge responded to calls, and spoke briefly, urging in an eloquent manner that democrats ask not who carries the flag, which was being carried by the worthiest of hands, but where is democracy's flag and follow it like the true men he knew most of his hearers to be.

Mercer county democrats are greatly enthused and gratified over the result of the meeting and those who went from here and the adjacent counties came home with a feeling of confidence that, though fought by foes without and foes within, all hades will not prevail against our incomparable ticket.

JOHN YOUNG BROWN acknowledges that he told Lawyer Peake and Dr. McClaskey that he would make speeches for Goebel, but says at the time he was grieving so much over the wickedness of the world in general and the Louisville convention in particular, or words to that effect, that he hardly knew what he was doing. Poor old man. The pains of hell got hold upon him and like a behemoth, he sweat great drops of blood as he began to see that his cake was dough and that with Goebel governor and Blackburn Senator, his chances to gratify his gnawing desire for office would go glimmering. Alas and alack that the itch for office should make men make such 'tarnation' fool of themselves.

THE L. & N. Dispatch announces a reduction of its price to one cent. It couldn't be given to democrats who wouldn't use it for an unmentionable service, if they could do any better.

ENTHUSIASTIC GOEBELITE. -Hon. Jas. D. Black, of Barbourville, said to an INTERIOR JOURNAL reporter: "I had the greatest admiration for Gov. Brown and was grieved to see him throw himself away politically. His candidacy will not hurt Senator Goebel, but make democrats more determined to elect our nominees. I never felt as much interest in a ticket as I do for the one nominated at Louisville. I was a Hardin delegate and watched Goebel and his managers, and can say that they were guilty of nothing that their opponents would not have done. Goebel's was eminently the respectable following and they behaved themselves like gentlemen. The Senator is a great man and I am going to make speeches for him and the excellent ticket as soon as I rest up from a long and laborious term of court. Our section is all right for the regular ticket. The bolters are L. & N. attorneys and their friends."

The bolters were evidently afraid to show their hand at Lexington. There was no roll call and no way for the onlookers to tell whether all the so-called delegates were from one county or whether the 110 counties reported to be represented were by person, proxy, or as the Hon. Philpot would say "they jess rit a letter." No one believes that half the counties were represented. A majority of the crowd came from Louisville, taken thither free of transportation, with free lunch and free whisky thrown in. John Whalen paid for over 300 meals at the Phoenix. Did John put up the money himself or did the L. & N. furnish? The answer is obvious and the more the ways and doings of the powwow are studied the more disgusting they become to honest men and true democrats. It was the worst fraud ever attempted to be perpetrated on a sensible people.

A DELEGATE to the christian convention at Shelbyville, where Dr. Kerfoot, of the Baptist church, made himself so conspicuous in abusing Mr. Goebel, tells us that it was a republican campaign trick. Elder John Sweeney, republican nominee for auditor, and Elder George Darsie, a life long republican, had procured their own appointment on the temperance committee and they wrote the resolutions. Kerfoot had been brought there for the purpose and in response to calls made the speech that he was expected to make. He was neither a member of the body or of the church he addressed and the whole thing flavors of worse than ward politics.

MR. WATTERSON told a New York interviewer that he was as certain of Goebel's election as any thing in nature, that there is no diversion in the State whatever of the regular democratic vote, which would be increased by the L. & N.-John Young Brown nomination. The great editor also said that there is no anti-Bryan movement in Kentucky and that he is seriously thinking of discounting Mr. Bryan's peculiar views with respect to silver and going in with Croker in proclaiming him the greatest of living Americans. Bravo, Mr. Watterson, you are the bully boy with the glass eye.

A MAN who is alleged to have known Lincoln well ought to have assimilated more sense than W. S. Carter, of Spencer county, Ind., seems to have done. He is 75 and although he had been married four times, he proposed and was married to a widow at Evansville in five minutes after he met her for the first time. There is no fool like the old fool and although this one is said to be wealthy, it is a dead sure snap that he will get rid of his money much faster than he made it.

THE Covington Daily Times, a seven page folio, which supports the democratic ticket and preaches democracy, has arisen since the Commonwealth went down and bids fair to become a power. I. C. Nicholson is editor and proprietor.

THE statement is made that the Lexington republicans will not fuse with the bolters in the local races for city and county offices. Of course not. The bolters can't help anybody but Taylor and they can't do him much good.

CAPT. STONE predicts the election of Taylor for governor. The wish is evidently father to the prediction. The captain's estimation of democrats declining almost as fast as theirs of him.

THE Henderson Daily Gleaner is doing a noble work for democracy. It is published in John Young Brown's home, but it takes no stock in John Young Brown.

LET'S see. Three days have elapsed and John Young Brown has not replied to the charges of Senator Goebel, which convict him of basest duplicity.

IT is stated the head-quarters of the Brown committee will be in Lexington. They ought to be in the Bucking-ham theatre at Louisville.

Maj. Russell B. Harrison, Inspector General, is critically ill of yellow fever at Santiago. He is a son of the ex-president.

The L. & N. has adopted the Fleming patent mail catcher on their system. This device not only picks up the mail bag, but also delivers it.

TRUE DEMOCRACY.

The democratic platform on which Senator Goebel stands, favors the McChord bill. The republican platform, on which Mr. Taylor stands, opposes it. The platform of the disgruntled faction, on which ex-Gov. Brown stands does not expressly either favor or oppose it. Since this bill vitally affects the material interests of the people of Kentucky, it would be well for them to understand its nature and object, as well as the reason why the Legislature may lawfully exercise the power to enact it. The bill gives to the railroad commission the power to determine whether railroads charge excessive rates for the transportation of commodities, and to restrain them from making such charges. Clearly this is in the interest of the people. They should not be subjected to excessive burdens in providing for themselves those necessities which belong to mankind in a social and civilized state. The most worthy efforts of philanthropists and political economists the past 100 years, have been directed to the vital point of cheapening the cost of living. If people habitually pay more for what they consume than the thing consumed is worth, there is a gradual waste of substance. It is equally clear that no person, natural or artificial, has a moral right to charge to the consumer or producer a greater price for the commodity than it is worth. If he should do so, he gets something for nothing. He is guilty of moral theft or robbery. In morals it is more despicable than winning money by gaming, because the former may be done within the forms of human law and the latter is done outside the forms of human law; and it has always been the contention of the democratic party that legalized robbery, robbery under the forms of law, such as is committed under a protective tariff, is more despicable than the act of the highwayman or gambler because it adds cowardice to turpitude. The ordinary gambler and robber take the risk of detection and punishment and may exhibit amid general immorality a degree of manly courage. But he who takes something without returning an equivalent because he is not restrained by a penal code, is neither honest nor courageous. Now the democratic party, through the McChord bill, simply proposes to prevent by law the railroads from making excessive charges against the people; that is, from taking something for nothing, from reaping where they have not sown. It is not intended to destroy, to cripple or to impair railroads in their great and beneficial work, but only to keep them by just laws, as even the best of natural persons must be kept, within salutary limits. To do this, works no wrong to railroads. The old maxim is that right wrongs nobody. That public institution which cannot subsist without oppressive exactions from the people who maintain it, should cease business. It corrupts itself and ruins its constituency by one and the same act. It much concerns the people that railroads should not make excessive freight charges. There may be but few shippers, but those who consume the articles shipped are legion. When the legions purchase, the charges for transportation are added to the price paid. The merchant who sells to the farmer must have cash, carriage and profit.

How does it occur that the Legislature has the power to prevent excessive charges? This is a question one may naturally put. He says to himself, any private person may ask and receive for his commodity just what he pleases and the Legislature can not lawfully prevent him; and why may not a railroad do the like? The answer is plain and is grounded in the difference between the measure of rights enjoyed by the private citizen and a corporation enjoying public privileges. Such a corporation is a public institution. In its creation it is given some powers which ordinarily belong to the sovereign or the State. Among these powers is the right to condemn and appropriate any citizen's property for its own use against the will of that owner. It is permitted by the State to do this only upon the theory that it is primarily to exercise all its powers for the use, benefit and advantage of the people and in no single instance against their interest. This is the contract between the people and the railroads. The people through their Legislature, say to the promoters of a railroad, we will give your company many of the sovereign powers which we alone possess; among them the right to condemn any individual's property for your own use if you will operate your railroad first for the advantage of the people and second, if aught remains for the advantage of your stockholders. The promoters accept this proposition, the contract is made and reduced to writing in the form of a charter. The railroad thus became a public institution, with rights, powers and privileges different from those of an individual, and being such it is amenable to public law to hold it to the terms of its contract. This and no other is the McChord bill.

The insurrection in Venezuela is said to have been quelled after a battle lasting 18 hours, in which the rebels lost 800 killed and wounded and the Government 300.

The steamboat war has put the fare from Louisville to Cincinnati at 25¢ for the round trip.

A New York paper revives the report that a plan for the consolidation of the L. & N. and Southern railroads is well under way. If this be so the competing line to Jellico from Burgeon will not be built.

Anarchists got on a tear in Paris Sunday in response to inflammatory appeals and began marching the streets, smashing windows of churches, destroying altars and images and other contents of the churches, in the meantime fighting with the police, seriously wounding several of them. ## COMPLIMENTARY.

The "secret dossier" is said to be too filthy to print. In this it is very like Goebel's attack on Sanford, or Richardson's editorials in the Glasgow Times.

MILLERSBURG FEMALE COLLEGE

OPENS SEPT. 6, 1899.

With buildings and grounds greatly improved, course of study revised and extended, a large, competent and religious faculty.

Enters upon its jubilee year under the most flattering circumstances. The verdict of those who have known the college from its beginning is that it was never so well equipped in all respects as at present.

We invite the most critical investigation.

FARM of 150 acres for sale privately. Possession given to suit purchaser. J. C. McClary, Exr.

THE Hustonville fair cleared 22¢ per cent. This office had $50 in stock and this morning received a check from J. H. Hocker, treasurer, for $61.25.

COOPER'S circus gave a good show here Friday, which was well attended. Not a single disturbance occurred during the day, even with so many people in town.

THE Brodhead fair begins tomorrow under most auspicious circumstances. Go yourself and tell your friends to do likewise. A big time is in store for those who attend.

THE supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society at Bright's school-house at Hubble Friday night was a success financially and otherwise, Mr. C. C. Withers, who was present, tells us.

About $45 were realized and everybody had a good time.

THE Horace Withers farm of 168 acres, owned by Mr. F. Reid, changed hands the other day at $70, or about $5 more per acre than Mr. Reid paid for it two years ago. Mr. Sallee, a son of Mart Sallee, of Boyle, was the purchaser.

ANKLE BROKEN.—White repairing O. P. Huffman's house the scaffolding on which J. T. Barnett and Newton Hixon were working broke and they fell to the ground. The former sustained a broken ankle and the latter severe bruises.

ABOUT all that old Bro. Vandever will get out of the bolt is the nomination for an impossible election and have his name printed wrong in all the newspapers, not excepting his nearest neighbor, the Danville Advocate, which gets it J. W. Vandever.

BROKE HIS COLLAR BONE.—The horse Free Silver Johnson was riding in the West End Friday fell throwing the clever old gentleman off and breaking his collar bone. He picked himself up and rode on to town before seeing a doctor, but the pain he suffered was great.

W. H. SHANKS has the kind of a father all of us would like to have. A deed is being recorded from Mr. S. H. Shanks to him "in consideration of love and affection" transferring the farm upon which Will lives, of 453 acres, and valued at $20,000. Mr. Shanks not long ago gave Mrs. T. A. Rice the Lackey farm of 368 acres, valued at $19,000.

RED TIES GALORE.—W. L. Evans, who was here yesterday en route to the mountains, said that C. C. Carpenter and Doc Drye took some 45 red and some six or eight blue ties at the Russell Springs fair. The judges gave the premiums to county and mountain county horses without regard to justice till the last day, when they got ashamed of themselves and gave the Hustonvillians a few.

THE good roads lecture of Mr. C. M. Hanna was not largely attended, but those present showed much interest and were greatly edified by the address.

At its conclusion the Lincoln County Farmers' Agricultural and Improvement Club was organized with Dr. Clifton Fowler, president, and B. W. Givens, secretary. The first meeting will be held next Saturday at 2 o'clock, when a permanent organization will be effected. Everybody is invited.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.—As

freight train No. 35 was laboring up the hill from Knob Lick, Engineer Crosby saw after he had whistled for the crossing of the pike near E. P. Woods, a man driving on the track immediately in front of him. He shut off steam and reversed the engine, but it was too late. The horse was killed, the vehicle wrecked and the man thrown high into the air, alighting on a cattle guard. The crew immediately went to the rescue and found the man alive, but unconscious. He soon revived and said that he was Nat Boyle, of Lancaster. He was brought to town and Eugene Brown, a cousin of Dr. Brown, knowing where he lived took him to his house. He was then taken to the Infirmary and Drs. Brown and Carpenter set to work to see the extent of his injuries. They say he is cut and gashed from head to foot, but strange to say is not seriously hurt. He says he was driving along not knowing that he was anywhere near a railroad, when the first thing he knew he was flying in the air. The engineer and doctors both say he must have been asleep. He is a son of Squire R. Boyle, of Garrard, and about 24 years old. The team belonged to Burton & Barker, at Lancaster and Boyle had been to Junction City to take a drummer.

ATTENTION is called to the sale of the Nat Lafon farm in Mercer to occur Sept. 13.

STUBBLE PLOWS—Vulcan and Gibbs' Imperial Steel Beam plows at B. K. Wearen & Son's.

CHICKEN FEED.—Five bushels of chicken feed screenings for only $1 at J. H. Baughman & Co.'s mill, Stanford.

THE Veranda Hotel is being turned out upon the street. Proprietor Joe Coffey has had the fence taken away and will put a concrete pavement from the building to the pavement.

THE special to the London republican blow-out this morning, R. D. Thompson conductor, had eight coaches and less than eight passengers. Over 100 were expected to get on here, but only Judge W. H. Carson, J. J. McRoberts and C. C. Carson put in an appearance.

423.—People are not slow to catch on to a good thing when it doesn't cost much. For instance since we reduced the price of the INTERIOR JOURNAL

423 new subscribers have been added and very little effort has been made to secure them. A semi-weekly like the I. J. at $1 a year is dirt cheap and nobody fails to realize it.

DEATH.—Mr. E. B. Caldwell, Jr., of Waynesburg, writes us that Mrs. Mary, wife of G. A. Caldwell, died Friday of a complication of diseases, leaving besides a husband four children. Rev. W. R. Davidson preached her funeral at Ebanks. "She had been a faithful member of Double Springs Baptist church for several years and was a good woman," he adds.

"I'M going to run my farm myself and will show Lincoln county people a thing or two," said Engineer J. H. Orndorff, who bought Free Silver Johnson's farm some time ago. "I'll not move to it and will continue to pull the throttle, but you can bet I will keep one eye on that farm." His fox-hunting friends here think he will plant most of the land in fox eggs and instead of cattle raising he will make a specialty of first-class fox hounds.

THE groom is quite an important factor at the wedding ceremony, even if ever afterwards he plays second fiddle, and his name should not be omitted in marriage write-ups as in our last. In the hurry of going to press, the article being sent in just as we were ready to do so, we failed to notice that Mr. Menefee Elmores' name did not appear in the notice of his marriage to Miss Hattie Cummins, the writer failing to give it. A further look at the notice shows that the bride's name was also omitted, mention of her being only made in the fact that she is a daughter of W. H. Cummins.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS.—A very pleasant crowd of 60 to 70 are enjoying the many attractions of this delightful resort, which is even better kept than formerly. Manager Gus Hofmann improves at the business like old wine does by age. The fare is fine, well cooked and well served and there is no lack of servants to respond to your every wish. There is quite a nice little crowd from Danville, including Mr. H. P. Bosley and pretty daughter, Miss Fleecie, Mrs. Alice Adams, Misses Edwin Adams and Alice Dunn, Messrs. T. A. Hendricks and L. H. Hudson. Barboursville is represented by Hon. J. D. Black and wife, Misses Gertrude and Georgia Black, and Capt. B. B. Golden. Pineview by Mr. A. K. Cook, wife and Miss Annie Dishman. Hon. W. R. Ramsey, of London, is also there, while there is quite a number from the South and other points. Messrs. Dave Holloman and Harry Collier are the clerks and are ready night and day to serve the guests.

VOTE FOR BRADLEY.—At Lancaster yesterday Senator C. C. McChord, after being introduced by Senator George T. Farris, made a splendid speech of 1½ hours, in which he explained and defended the bill that bears his name, as well as the Election bill and the Chin bill and spoke in the highest terms of the head of the democratic ticket. The M. A. Literary and Debating Society met in College Hall Friday evening and was called to order by President David Godfrey at 7:30. An interesting program was rendered and much needed business matters attended to. The subject for debate was "Resolved that the war being waged in the Philippines is unjust." Affirmative, Clarence Coleman and J. P. Kelsay. Negative, Steuben Godfrey and L. V. Creech. The judges gave the decision to the affirmative, thus striking another deadly blow to the imperialistic views of the administration.

There are something like 15 or 20 cases of small-pox on Casey's Creek. Our report was greatly exaggerated last week, though not purposely. The people generally are receiving quite a scare. It was thought safer not to have any institute next week as it might have a tendency to spread the disease. Dr. Wesley has received a letter from Secretary McCormack, of the State Board of Health ordering a general vaccination. Everyone, both male and female, white and black, rich and poor, will have to be vaccinated. The country will see that the poor are vaccinated. In the mean time let everyone keep as clean as possible and look after the sanitary conditions of his surroundings as well as person.

Mr. George McAninch hands us a clipping from a Bloomington, Ill., paper giving details of the untimely death of his son, which occurred August 6. The clipping reads: "Mr. Durham McAninch was killed yesterday about 3:40 o'clock, south of the Greenview Switch. While it is not known how he met his death, it is supposed that in jumping from the car to the engine tank he missed his footing and fell to the rails. The crew went back and found him lying just outside the rails with both legs cut off and his skull crushed. Life was extinct. The remains were picked up and brought to Greenview, where the inquest will be held, today, the members of the train crew going down to attend this morning. The deceased was a native of Kentucky, and was 20 years of age. He had been working for the Alton since last January, and was generally known among the railroad men as 'Kaintuck.' He was a young man of excellent character and was very popular." The remains were shipped home for burial and were interred in the Green River Church burying ground. The deceased was well and favorably known throughout this, his native section. He was very popular with both old and young, who deeply sympathize with the sorrowing parent, brothers and sisters in their hour of bereavement. The deceased was a cousin to the writer, who deeply sympathizes with the sorrowing.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1123 Howard St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery had removed the tumor she had had for 12 years. She had been working at getting rid of it for many years and had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember having before I first had it." It is spreading its praise throughout the Universe.

MIDDLEBURG.

Mr. Joseph Gribble has been very anxious to see a live rattlesnake since he moved to this county last spring. Last week his curiosity was gratified by the finding of one on his farm. It had 11 rattles and a button and was a "cracker-jack." Mr. Gribble skinned it and sent its hide to the editor of the Williamstown Courier and it is now on exhibition in one of the principal stores in Williamstown.

Prof. Charles Hover, a blind musician, has been giving creditable entertainments at the different school-houses in this section. At each entertainment a cane is given to the laziest man and a ring to the prettiest lady present, to be decided by vote at one cent per vote. There was little excitement here over the contest, but things must have gotten pretty lively at Grove, where the ring was awarded to Miss Lela Patterson over Mrs. Walter Evans at a cost of $15 to the voters. T. S. B.

The past week has been one of sun-shine, which has made corn and pastures.

Two years ago the rads were terribly tickled over the Courier Journal and in fact they thought in another year it would turn body and soul over to the republican party. It is now the biggest liar South of the Ohio. There is no paper like the Dispatch with them now.

The M. A. Literary and Debating Society met in College Hall Friday evening and was called to order by President David Godfrey at 7:30. An interesting program was rendered and much needed business matters attended to. The subject for debate was "Resolved that the war being waged in the Philippines is unjust." Affirmative, Clarence Coleman and J. P. Kelsay. Negative, Steuben Godfrey and L. V. Creech. The judges gave the decision to the affirmative, thus striking another deadly blow to the imperialistic views of the administration.

There are something like 15 or 20 cases of small-pox on Casey's Creek. Our report was greatly exaggerated last week, though not purposely. The people generally are receiving quite a scare. It was thought safer not to have any institute next week as it might have a tendency to spread the disease. Dr. Wesley has received a letter from Secretary McCormack, of the State Board of Health ordering a general vaccination. Everyone, both male and female, white and black, rich and poor, will have to be vaccinated. The country will see that the poor are vaccinated. In the mean time let everyone keep as clean as possible and look after the sanitary conditions of his surroundings as well as person.

Mr. George McAninch hands us a clipping from a Bloomington, Ill., paper giving details of the untimely death of his son, which occurred August 6. The clipping reads: "Mr. Durham McAninch was killed yesterday about 3:40 o'clock, south of the Greenview Switch. While it is not known how he met his death, it is supposed that in jumping from the car to the engine tank he missed his footing and fell to the rails. The crew went back and found him lying just outside the rails with both legs cut off and his skull crushed. Life was extinct. The remains were picked up and brought to Greenview, where the inquest will be held, today, the members of the train crew going down to attend this morning. The deceased was a native of Kentucky, and was 20 years of age. He had been working for the Alton since last January, and was generally known among the railroad men as 'Kaintuck.' He was a young man of excellent character and was very popular." The remains were shipped home for burial and were interred in the Green River Church burying ground. The deceased was well and favorably known throughout this, his native section. He was very popular with both old and young, who deeply sympathize with the sorrowing parent, brothers and sisters in their hour of bereavement. The deceased was a cousin to the writer, who deeply sympathizes with the sorrowing.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1123 Howard St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery had removed the tumor she had had for 12 years. She had been working at getting rid of it for many years and had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember having before I first had it." It is spreading its praise throughout the Universe.

COLORED TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Institute convened Monday morning at Baptist church, devotional exercises being conducted by Rev. G. W. Boling. Owing to the illness of Supt. Singleton, Dr. W. D. Tariff was made chairman and Miss Belle Sutton, secretary. Prof. F. L. Williams, of Louisville, the conductor, being introduced, responded in his characteristic way, outlining the work of the session, putting particular stress upon the ultimate purpose of the common school system and the imperative necessity of teachers fitting themselves to become more and more efficient in their work each year. The committee on program, consisting of Prof. Cranshaw, Misses L. T. Wade and Levels, with the conductor, mapped out the work, modifying somewhat the plan as laid down in the syllabus.

After the first day's session, the Institute completed its work in the circuit court room. Each teacher assigned to special work responded and the various subjects of the curriculum were thoroughly discussed, followed invariably by suggestions and comments from the conductor; suggestions, which if put into practice by the teachers, the work in the colored schools of Lincoln county must be productive of much real good. Representatives from Knoxville College and Berea, in short but pointed talks, presented the advantages of their respective institutions.

Thursday afternoon the Institute was entertained by a highly interesting and profitable talk by Mrs. T. M. Goodnight, which she concluded with two recitations personalizing the Irish and Dutch dialect. Mr. Isaac Hathaway, of Lexington, also favored the Institute with a humorous selection from Paul Dunbar. Owing to a pre-engagement of the court room, the literary exercises for Thursday evening were much to the regret of many, declared off. At 12 o'clock Friday, after singing: "God be with you 'till we meet again," the Institute concluded another pleasant, and it is hoped, profitable session.

The following resolutions were adopted:

RESOLUTIONS:

Whereas, in our present institute, we've received such instruction as but few institutes have enjoyed, therefore be it
